WHAT IT MEANS.

The Meaning of the X in the Square With the Eagle Pointed Out.

An X in the square with the eagle means:

That you want the country to be prosperous.

That you believe in the advancement and enlightenment of the people.

That you are in favor of Protection to American industries and American labor.

That you glory in a money system which challenges the admiration of the civilized world.

That you wish to vote with the party of progress, the party that has never yet made a promise to the people that it did not fulfill.

That you are on the side of the party that is capable of managing the affairs of the Government in a business like manner.

That you are with the party which has advanced every theory and carried to a successful termination every project which has tended to make us a prosperous people.

That you are opposed to the party of false pretenses.

That you don't believe in a trade system that would prove ruinous to our institutions.

That you don't believe in the issuing of money by state banks and thereby wreck our currency.

That you are against the party which has opposed every liberal measure proposed for the last thirty years.

That you are down on the party that polls its heaviest majorities in the most ignorant and vicious precincts in the large cities.

That you don't want the party in power that only wants office for the spoils to be derived therefrom.

That you want your vote recorded against the party, the sole aim of which is to destroy our industries and whose only hope of success lies in fraud, bribery and deception.

EACH voter is allowed three minutes in which to prepare his ballot. In this way only 30 persons an hour can be accommodated in each booth. The polls are open 9 hours, from 7 a. m. until 4 p. m., so only 180 votes can be allowed for each booth. Hence the necessity for early voting. If you put it off too late you may be crowded out.

SAID recently ex-Speaker Reed: "Today business is good. Never in this country's history has it been better. Never was there a better opportunity for an honest man to have a white man's chance for a living. Never was our manufacturing in better condition. Never were the people better satisfied." Here is given one of the principal reasons why Mr. Reed appeals to the people to support the Republican policy. It is because it will insure the business prosperity of this country.

Hear This, Ye Doubters.

This is what Labouchere the noted English editor says in his paper, The London Truth:

"It is certain that at the present moment America is the most prosperous country in the world, despite our assertions that Protection is ruinous. If I had been an American myself I should have advocated Protection. 'The proof of the pudding is in the eating.' Protection pudding has provided a more plentiful meal for the Americans than Free-trade provides for us."

A Cholera Scare.

A reported outbreak of cholera at Helmetta, N. J., created much excitement in that vicinity. Investigation showed that the disease was not cholera but a violent dysentery, which is almost as severe and dangerous as cholera. Mr. Walter Willard, a prominent merchant of Jamesburg, two miles from Helmetta, says Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy has given great satisfaction in the most severe cases of dysentery. It is certainly one of the best things made. For sale by Power & Reynolds, Druggists.

Too Much Indifference.

Some theatrical troupes when they appear in the smaller cities seem to think that the audiences are composed of people who are not able to discriminate between good and bad acting. This has been the case in Maysville in the past with some really good companies. They have seemed to be totally indifferent as to the impression they make upon those who have paid the price of admission to see their performance.

Now this sort of thing won't work with the theater-goers of this city. They are an intelligent class of people and can readily tell when they are imposed upon. The managers of the Opera-house should bring us first-class attractions and compel them to be as earnest in their efforts to please here as in the more pretentious theaters of the larger cities which are patronized by no more cultivated or enlightened people than compose the amusement lovers of Maysville.

Cholera.

When properly treated as soon as the first symptoms appear, cholera can nearly always be cured. The patient should go immediately to bed and remain as quiet as possible. Send for a physician, but while awaiting his arrival take Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy in double doses after each operation of the bowels more than natural. If there is severe pain or cramps, take it in double doses every fifteen minutes until relieved. This Remedy has been used with great success in seven epidemics of dysentery that were almost as severe and dangerous as cholera, and if used as directed a cure is almost certain. Every family should have a 50 cent bottle at hand ready for instant use. After the disease is under control castor oil must be taken to cleanse the system. No other physic or substitute will do in place of castor oil. For sale by Power & Reynolds, Druggists.

Republican Meeting at Johnsonville.

Oddfellows' Hall at Johnsonville was crowded with the best people of that thriving Bracken county village Wednesday evening, many handsome ladies being in the audience.

Among those present was the Hon. William A. Pepper, who served his country in the Legislature during the early years of the war, and who, though 84 years of age and lame from an accident of several years ago, is alive and active to the importance of the success of the Republican ticket.

The arrangements were in charge of Captain Alex A. Yelton, who had provided everything for the comfort of the audience.

There was an excellent orchestra, and the lively music put everybody in the best of good humor.

The speakers were William A. Byron of Brookville and Thomas A. Davis of this city, who were listened to with close attention during two hours.

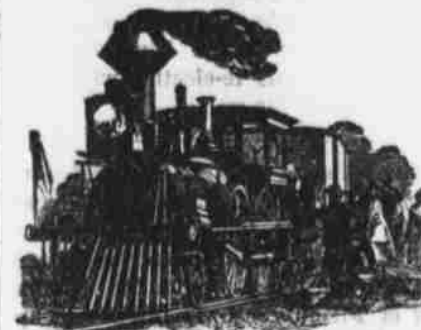

There has never been a time when the Republicans of Bracken county were as much in earnest as now, and they propose to poll their full vote.

ARMSTRONG REYNOLDS, young son of J. J. Reynolds, of Power & Reynolds, druggists, this city, is quite ill with diphtheria at his home in Flemingsburg.

Do You Know

That a large percentage of deaths in this country are caused by consumption and lung trouble? A little cold neglected in the beginning often terminates in consumption. Every time you cough you increase the trouble, and an inflammation was soon started, which is difficult to control. There is one remedy that cures quickly every kind of a cough. That is Dr. Hale's Household Cough Cure. It is the best. Are you not entitled to the best? For sale at 25c and 50c a bottle at Power & Reynolds's Drugstore.

Double Postal Card.

The Government will soon issue a new double postal card which is calculated to facilitate correspondence. This card consists of two parts, one appropriated to an original message and the other a reply thereto. The parts are easily separated by means of a scored line between them cut about half through the thickness of the paper. This card, which is for domestic use, will contain on the address side a portrait of General Grant in citizen's dress, and the "Message Card," "One Cent," and below "Postal Card with Paid Reply." The price of these cards will be two cents.

The department is also preparing for issue later on a similar card for use with foreign countries. The price of these cards will be four cents.

Maysville's Appearance.

There is no city anywhere with a population of less than 10,000 that can produce a street as imposing as Second street with its long rows of handsome business blocks.

Market street is also fast assuming city looks. Standing on the corner of Market and Second the view in any direction makes one feel that he's in a busy town.

Most of the large and handsome structures which grace these thoroughfares have been erected within the last decade and still there are those who say we are not a progressive people. Every year some old land mark is torn down to make room for some new edifice and the architecture of each is modern in all respects. Maysville is and always will be the metropolis of Northeastern Kentucky.

The Electoral College.

The Presidential Electoral College will consist under the present Congressional apportionment of 444 votes, and as the successful candidate must have a majority, it will take 223 votes to elect. The states which voted for Harrison against Cleveland last year cast 249, and the new states which have been admitted into the Union since that election cast twenty votes. Of these new states all except Montana are surely Republican. There will therefore be seventeen more Republican electoral votes to add to those cast in the last Presidential election, which, if all the states voted as they did before, would make the Republican electoral vote 269 and leave the Democrats 175. But several states which Mr. Harrison carried may fairly be classified as doubtful. The Republicans can lose the thirty-six electoral votes of New York (which is not at all likely,) and still have 230 left, seven more than is necessary to elect.

THE Manchester Signal is just twelve years old.

AMID FLOWERS.

Beautiful Flowery Emblems at the White House

Fairly Hide the Casket of the Beloved First Lady of the Land.

Simple, Solemn and Touching Were the Funeral Services Over the Dead—Feeling Music, "I Hear the Voice of Jesus," "Lead Kindly Light."

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28.—Funeral exercises over the remains of Mrs. Harrison, previous to their removal to Indianapolis, were held in the east room of the white house Thursday morning. They were brief and simple, in accordance with the wishes of the president and family, often expressed, that there be no attempt at display.

Before the services began the casket was brought down stairs from the room in which Mrs. Harrison died and placed in the center of the room, directly underneath the middle chandelier. At either end of the casket stood an immense sago palm, whose gracefully waving branches reached nearly to the ceiling of the magnificent apartment.

When the doors were thrown open to admit the first arrivals, the scene was strikingly beautiful. The chandeliers cast a flood of mellow light, the windows having been darkened.

The several mantle pieces were banked with ferns, and flanked at either end by a larger palm. Around the casket were grouped the great wealth of floral offerings, through which friends testified their appreciation of worth while living, and their sorrow at her death. They filled all the space on each side of the casket almost to the windows on the east and the door into the corridor on the west, connecting the apartment with the private portion of the house.

At the head stood the cross sent by the republican state central committee of California, made of white chrysanthemums; from the angel of the cross was suspended a wreath of yellow chrysanthemums, and against the base rested another of red roses and palms. Opposite, at the foot, was a massive crown, the gift of the New York City Chapter of the Daughters of the Revolution. It was composed of chrysanthemums and white roses, and rested upon a base of violets.

Broad streamers of white silk bore on their ends the insignia of the order and the name of the chapter.

On the head of the casket rested a wreath prepared at the white house conservatory, by direction of the president. It was made of white roses and orchids, of which Mrs. Harrison was very fond.

Another wreath, of carnations and chrysanthemums, also favorites of Mrs. Harrison, will be placed upon the casket at Indianapolis.

It is practically impossible to give more than a mention of the more noteworthy of the emblems that surrounded the casket.

They comprised every known device appropriate for such an occasion, and the profusion was unequalled in the experience of those who witnessed it.

After the services the flowers, or as many of them as could be carried in two large wagons, were taken to the station and placed with the observation car of the funeral train.

Shortly after 9 o'clock the first of those who attended the services in the east room entered the white house, and from the time of their appearance until the service began, a constant stream of social, official and political friends of the Harrison family came through the gates of the mansion in vehicles and on foot.

It wanted a few minutes only of 10 o'clock when Ex-Secretary Blaine, following close behind Mrs. Blaine and Miss Hattie Blaine, entered the white house. It was his first visit since just before that memorable day when he sent his resignation as secretary of state to the president.

Those present, barely two hundred in number, were almost exclusively the official family of the president and those whose relations with the family put them on the footing of domestic friends.

When the spectators had resumed their seats in silence, Dr. Hamlin, the pastor of the Church of the Covenant, read the opening passage of scripture: "In My Father's House are Many Mansions," and the other selected passages which followed.

St. John's P. E. church choir boys sang: "I Heard the Voice of Jesus Say."

Rev. Dr. Hamlin closed with prayer. The white house employes then carried the casket from the white house, the boy choir singing "Lead, Kindly Light."

The cabinet members, the honorary pall-bearers, led the way.

The funeral train departed for Indianapolis at 11:40 o'clock.
